TALK OF THE TOWN

Miss Rose Hopkins, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Mary McCarthy, of Summer street during the past three months, coming here from Brattleboro, left this morning for Greenfield, Mass., where she will visit for an extended time. Later she will enter a hospital at Greenfield to train for a nurse.

A committee on entertainment at the Baptist church have been busy for the past few days gathering together games and entertainment for a Halloween social that is to be given at the church to-morrow night. They have been real successful and all are invited to attend and enjoy themselves.

This For It.

See what you can buy on our bargain tables. The Vaughan Store.

W. E. Folsom left Barre last night for Boston, where he will make an extended stay.

Miss Nellie Buxton went to Northfield this forenoon to pass the remainder of the week with friends.

Miss Jessie Bellway of North Main street has gone to New York for a week's visit with relatives.

Mrs. William Lindsey, Mrs. Scott Tinkham and William Bannigan have returned to their home in Quechee, after spending several days in the city as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. House of West street.

A number of people from this city were in South Royalton yesterday to attend the auction sale of farm property owned by C. K. Anderson. D. A. Perry was the auctioneer and satisfactory prices were obtained for every parcel knocked down.

Twenty-one cows averaged $64.50 each, selling at prices ranging from $33 to $70. Hay in the barn brought $13.50 per ton and ensilage sold at $2.50 the ton. Corn on the cob brought 70 cents per bushel and 90-pound shoats were delivered to buyers at $10 each. Yearlings and two-year-olds were sold for round sums. To-day Mr. Perry went to Berlin corner, where he conducted a sale for the R. D. Stewart estate.

Barre Eastern Stars are wondering what will be the fate of an ancient and time-honored custom that is being discussed at the 38th annual session of the grand chapter in Des Moines, Ia. "Insurgent" sisters of the order, as they have been designated, are attacking the custom of choosing only those dates for their sessions which are on moonlight nights, so that they can meet "by the light of the moon." It is said that many of the members feel that the time of meeting should not confirm to this ancient custom, while others hold that the order should stick to its old traditions. "Insurgents" say the custom is a relic of the past. In old times it was the custom to meet on the high hills and in the low valleys by the light of the moon.

Spaulding Gets Ready for Montpelier Seminary.

The Spaulding H. S. football eleven held its first practice yesterday since the game Saturday. Coach Brown ran his men through a snappy signal practice and followed it up by a hard scrimmage with the second team. Much time was spent in breaking up forward passes, and, while the team might be improved in that respect, there is every reason to expect that with the start they got yesterday they will have that defense fixed before the end of the week. The line, both on the offense and defense, showed the strength of a German army. The only thing they lacked was a 40-centimeter gun and a gas tank.

Tomasi and Ogston of the alumni were present and did their part in helping the coach whip his men into shape. Sector has nearly recovered from his injury and, though he probably will not play Saturday, there is not much doubt that he will appear in the line-up against Montpelier high.

If the Spaulding rosters would show their interest in their team by attending practice, they would find that they were well paid for their pains. If there is anything that will spur a team on to its best work, it is the feeling that the school is behind it.

Mr. Smart will journey to Boston, where he will represent the Granite Cutters' International association at the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor. Mr. Smart expects to be gone about six or seven weeks and will visit many of the branches on the home trip. In anticipation of his departure on the trip, a large company of Mr. Smart's friends gathered at his home on Glenwood avenue one evening recently and paid him a surprise visit. On behalf of the company, William McDonald presented him a handsome traveling bag, and the remainder of the evening was given over to song and story. Light refreshments were served and the company broke up, wishing Mr. Smart bon voyage and a safe return.

Goddard seminary football warriors are to wage their gridiron warfare against the second team of the University of Vermont at Burlington Saturday, according to arrangements completed by Manager William Quinn this forenoon. Earlier in the season Goddard won a thrilling victory over the Burlington collegians, but it was not without a good deal of strategy that the local boys came through with a win and the outcome of the week-end contest, therefore, is much in doubt. Spaulding high school plays Montpelier seminary at the Gospel village campus, so football fans in Barre are assured of their weekly portion of the gridiron sport.
